For Everyone

Do you think better when you are thinking out loud? Do you want to harness this power more often? Teddy Bear Talk Support provides a framework for benefiting from listeners who say very little. We'll call these listeners teddy bears.

When a teddy bear does talk, it is because the talker has asked the teddy bear to do something small, like ask some questions or reflect some things back. Big changes can happen for the talker as a result of the little things the teddy bear might do or say to just "jiggle" things a bit for the talker.

When a teddy bear asks a question, the question isn't about any concerns or agenda that the teddy bear might have. Instead, the question is open and honest and supports the talker in having plenty of room to take things where the talker wants to go.

Teddy Bear Talk Support is about clearing the way for the power of listening to work its magic. Come to a workshop (registration required! Go to <https://teddybeartalksupport.com/workshops>) to learn more!

For Parents
